A STIR AT COBB'S

OVER THE ATTEMPTED ENFORCE-MENT OF GAME-LAWS.

Three Young Gentlemen Arrested-The Authority Under Which the Action Was Taken-The Islanders Excited and Indignant.

COBB'S ISLAND, August 18.-(Special.) Quite an excitement has been created on island by an attempt to enthe game laws of Virginia for Northampton and Accomac counties, under which warrants were for the arrest of three young gentlemen from Knoxville, Tenn.-Messrs. Alfred F. Sanford, H. W. Sanford, and H. M. Mc-The Sheriff of Northampton, upen information, came to the island with the warrants and left with the young men, who were just starting home, compromise was effected between the teland and the mainland, in which the young gentlemen made payment under protest and proceeded upon their way

It seems that the Legislature of Virginia has given very broad powers to the Castern Shore Game Protective Association of Virginia. This association was formed "with a view of procuring and securing the enforcement of a wise and judicious system of laws for the preserva-tion of the game of this shore—restock-ing as far as the means of the associa-tion will permit such portions of the shore as are depleted of game, offering rewards for game destroying animals, etc. The Legislature, March 5, 1894, passed a bill incorporating the association and a bill incorporating the association and another act of that date, entitled an ac "To protect wild water fowl and other game in the counties of Accomac and Northampton." The second section of this latter not provides that it shall be this latter act provides that it shall be unlawful for any non-resident to shoot at, catch, or kill any wild fowl in any waters or on any marshes or beaches within the jurisdiction of the said counties of Accomac or Northampton. This section shall not apply to such non-residents as are members of the Eastern Shore Game Protective Association and subject to the by-laws of said association. The penalty for offence is $100, one half going to the informer, and confinement in jail until fine is paid, not to exceed sixty days. exceed sixty days. ORIGINAL INTENT.

ORIGINAL INTENT.

The constitution of the association in 1894 provided for an initiation fee of $1 and annual dues of $1. As a rule, this has been cheerfully paid by sportsmen, residents of the State of Virginia, as well as non-residents. It would seem that the original intention of this law was directed to the stopping of the ruinous night shooting by which ducks, geese, and brant were not only killed in great numbers by huge guns, but driven out to sea and prevented from coming to our shores. As I understand it, it was not contemplated that this act should apply to summer and spring snipe-chooting. The law, however, empowers the association to deal with non-residents as they may seem fit, and last year the initiation fee was raised to $5 and the yearly dues to $3, thus making a sum of $5 to be paid before a non-resident of this island could indulge in the aiready expensive sport of shooting a few seaside anipe. Mr. Thomas B. Smith, a member of the Executive Committee of the life-saying crew of Cobb's Island. He the association, is also a member of the life-saving crew of Cobb's Island. He has been very active in soliciting dues from non-residents, but there has not from non-residents, but there has not been a co-operation with him on the part of the boatmen here who act as guides. Their charge of $2 for one and $1 for two for gunning one tide they consider a sufficiently expensive luxury, knowing full well that a casual visitor, who is not a well-to-do sportsman, would never think of engaging them when $8 never think of engaging them when $8 fees are to be added to the day's sport. NO NOTICES.

No notices have been posted hereabout and when, after industrial fight of birds we have had this summer, a gentleman has been required to pay $8 and become a member of the Eastern Shore Game Protective Association of Virginia, he has, as a rule, kicked, and kicked hard. Most of the visitors this summer have refused to pay what they considered an unjust tax, and they have paid no penalty, so that the informing upon and penalty, so that the informing upon and swearing out of the warrants for the arrest of the three young men from Knoxville, Tenn., is looked upon by the islanders generally as a mean persecution, and they are thoroughly aroused and indignant. The animus which beautiful about the proposed arrest. brought about the proposed arrests, I am convinced upon interviewing the parties concerned, was the intimation by guides and proprietors that this tax, which they did not understand, was being collected by Smith and others and appropriated to their own uses. This, th atter so resented, that they determined to make a test case and show that they were acting under the law. It is, howunfortunate that rather should have been so lax in the per-formance of a duty for months, and sud-denly visited their wrath, to the incon-venience of visitors to Virginia in the sons of these three young men from MUCH EXERCISED.

Under the law, the association has ample powers to stop a recurrence of this pairry business. Visitors to such a this paltry business. Visitors to such a summer resort bring far more money into the county of Northampton in a summer than would be the product of all the snipe which could be killed in a season. It is a very serious question whether or not the imposition of this tax upon non-residents is constitutional. The proprie-tors of the hotel, and residents of the island are naturally very much exercised over it, and if the managers of the asso-ciation are not broader in their conduct of the business, in which they are en-gaged, it will not be long before the Legislature will repeal the law under which they are working.

The compromise effected was the pay-

The compromise effected was the payment by the Messra. Sanford and Mc-Keldin of the $8 dues and $2 costs each, making an aggregate of $30.

Senator W. B. McIlwaine, who is one of the Democratic electors at large for this State, spoke to a large assemblage of Dinwiddle people at the county courthouse yesterday on the political issues of the day. Mr. McIlwaine is one of the ablest and most graceful and attractive speakers in our State. His heart is thoroughly enlisted in the cause he is advocating, and he is therefore the more effective in his arguments. The people of Dinwiddle gave him an enthusiastic reception, and will give Bryan and Sewall a big majority in November. The purchase covers about thirty acres, including nearly 1,000 feet of water front, and is separated from the property first acquired by what is known as the Rogers tract. It is understood that the price paid was in the neighborhood of $30,000, and that improvements to the property will be begun within thirty days from this date. Your correspondent learned this morn ing that Messrs, Darling and McMenamin, who now control the Newport-News-Hampton State League team, have signed Billy Magee, formerly of the local team, and who was also with the Portsmouth team for a short while. Billy is a fast and valuable man, and is capable of playing company with any of the State League players. His release from Portsmouth was not due to poor playing, but to the fact that the management had some other man it wanted on the team. CAN'T UNDERSTAND IT.

Notwithstanding the announcements in the Norfolk papers of the clever exhibi-tion of pitching put up by Mike Morris-sey in Monday's game with Portsmouth, sey in Monday's game with Portsmouth, the fans of this city cannot understand why Messrs, Darling and McMenamin have chosen him to do the twirling for their new team, instead of Jack Host, the star pitcher of the Newport News Morrissey has always been con sidered as dead-easy by the local team, and the boys have never failed to touch him up for a big base-hit column. On the other hand, Jack Host has pitched some remarkable games, always proving an enigma to Hampton, Suffolk, and the other visiting teams. His work in the recent Suffolk series will always be remembered here. It will be remembered that Newport News won three games and tled one, and this was due in the main to the good battery-work of Host and Magee. In the second game Suffolk put on six present and ex-State League players, all of whom went down before the clever young twirler, Newport News winning with a large margin.
